COMRAT STATE UNIVERSITY

The purpose of higher education is not only to train specialists with high professional competence, but also to educate them in the spirit of respect for moral values.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Academic integrity represents a commitment to the fundamental values of honesty, trust, fairness, respect, and responsibility in all academic activities, including teaching, learning, and research.

The Code of Academic Ethics is intended to support staff and students in identifying and resolving ethical issues that may arise during their employment and studies.

Consequences of violating integrity standards:

- Deterioration of academic quality and reputation. Institutions where unethical behavior is tolerated lose credibility and prestige, and the quality of education declines significantly.
- Demotivation of the academic community: Students and faculty who adhere to integrity standards feel demotivated in an environment where those who violate ethical norms are favored.
- Legal and administrative sanctions Violating integrity standards can result in disciplinary sanctions, fines, expulsion, termination of employment, or even criminal prosecution.

Academic corruption refers to any unethical behavior that undermines the educational and scientific process, directly affecting the credibility and integrity of the educational institution

A group of diverse young adults, including men and women of various ethnicities, are smiling and giving thumbs-up gestures. They are dressed in casual, colorful clothing. The image is positioned on the left side of the page, partially overlapping the blue text box.

Every student plays an important role in creating a university environment based on fairness, respect, and responsibility, by understanding and correctly applying legal and ethical standards

Adherence to integrity standards strengthens ethical culture and transparency in the academic environment, contributing to the development of a high-quality educational system
